The clean, organic lines of the Linnaea Collection led us to look for a name with an organic feel. The collection has an updated Danish modern look, but somehow, we gravitated to the national flower of Sweden, "linnaea borealis". And, of course, there's Carl Linnaeus, the Swedish botanist who invented the system scientists use to name plants and animals, such as "linnaea borealis", the Latin name for the northern "twinflower". Choice of fabric is unlimited, as it is customer-supplied fabric which you can buy from Hardwood Artisans, or elsewhere. (COM = customer own material) The sofa and loveseat include two toss pillows; the chair has one.

These tables and chairs, the dining room counterparts to our new Linnaea Collection, combine mid-century roots with the simply beautiful lines our customers have come to expect from Hardwood Artisans. Available in both pedestal and 4-leg versions, the tables have a modified bull-nosed edge which we call a "pencil edge" and a boat-shaped top. The pedestal style allows for 6 chairs to fit comfortably around it at 60" long; 8 chairs when using the included 18 inch self-storing leaf; ten chairs with an optional, non-storing leaf ($325). The 78" 4-leg table allows for 2 of the Linnaea arm chairs to fit between the legs (or 3 of our Middleburg side chairs) seating 6 (or 8). The 94" table seats two more diners.
